

D. R. Evarts Library

2018 Annual Report to the Community

80 Second St, Athens, NY 12015
 (518) 945-1417 www.drevartslibrary.org

In 2018, the D. R. Evarts Library continued to expand and improve. Children's and Young Adult activities included STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math), robotics, sewing, MakerSpace, crafts, early literacy as well as special projects for school half-days. We even incubated and hatched several chicks, and they were real crowd pleasers.

In addition to our monthly book club, we also expanded adult programming with offerings on local history, home and finance help, and much more.

In addition to books, patrons of D. R. Evarts Library can borrow DVDs, CDs, magazines and have access to the Mid-Hudson Library System's extensive online eBook and audiobook collection. Of course, computers with high-speed internet, WiFi, faxing, copying and friendly technical assistance are all available. You can also borrow non-traditional items (like garden tools and cooking utensils) that we added to our collection.
